

Government AV Solutions

All local, state, and national government buildings all have one thing in common, and that is the need for audio-visual systems that last and fall within budget. Crunchy Tech can handle any AV system for government buildings and will back our systems with world class support.

State government buildings depend on reliable systems in all areas. It is especially important to go with an audio-visual integrator that can match the exact scope and budget for state government buildings.

Video walls, control boards, and proper sound are all needed to run an efficient operations center. Any local or state government worker will be at their best with a Crunchy Tech installed operations center.

Broadcast centers are usually at the core of communication with the public for state and local governments, so Crunchy Tech makes sure that government broadcast centers are set up right the first time and last for years to come.

BRAINSTORM

PLAN

DESIGN

INTEGRATE

SUPPORT

Be ready to take government buildings to the next level with a state-of-the-art Crunchy Tech audio visual solution. Spend less time worrying about AV tech working and spend time more efficiently.